Field Trip to the Wisconsin Rapids Farmers Market
 On September 15, 2023, the Assumption Introduction to Economics and FACE classes walked to the Wisconsin Rapids farmers market and made projects about what they had learned. The students in the FACE class do food preparation and cook. They came to the farmers market to do research about the food trucks. They created a project on what food is served in the trucks and how it is cooked. The students in Economics class were there to see a clear example of a public market. Groups were assigned different categories of stands to visit. They took photos of the different stands, products, and prices and made a slideshow of their assigned stands, comparing prices and products. Both groups enjoyed going outside and snacking on some delicious food!
